PENTAPRINT® PP FILMS FOR TWO-PIECE CUPS AND CONTAINERS NOW AVAILABLE FROM KLÖCKNER PENTAPLAST

Gordonsville, Virginia – February 26, 2009 – The Pentaprint® film product line has been extended to include Pentaprint® W-5120 and W-5150 rigid polypropylene films. Designed to work in conjunction with one another, Pentaprint® W-5120 and W-5150 films are specifically designed for two-piece cup and container forming applications. Two-piece cups and containers are produced as blanks, which are pre-printed on traditional printing presses, then are assembled into a container or cup. Ideal for high-impact promotional cups and containers (movies, sports teams, etc.) and premium product lines such as beverage cups and popcorn tubs, these films provide superior graphics quality that exceeds traditional plastic containers while offering features unavailable with paperboard. Pentaprint® W-5120 and W-5150 films are available in North America.

Pentaprint® W-5150 base film is engineered with material stiffness to minimize waste and eliminate waviness on the bottom of finished cups and containers. Pentaprint® W-5120 sidewall film is optimized for printing and sealing to itself and the cup/container base. In addition, W-5120 film can be heat sealed to a variety of lidstocks compatible with PP cups and containers. These films offer a superior barrier for oils and hot liquids that may otherwise compromise the integrity of a paper product. Pentaprint® PP films can be used on existing traditional printing presses configured for plastic sheet.

As compared to traditional paperboard, Pentaprint® W-5120 and W-5150 films offer superior brightness and gloss, as well as providing a superior printing surface due to a lack of ink absorption. These films are available in translucent and opaque colors.
