KLÖCKNER PENTAPLAST INTRODUCES NEW PENTALABEL® LV PETG FILMS WITH UNIQUE COATING

Gordonsville, Virginia – September 9, 2014 – The Pentalabel® film product line has been extended to include Pentalabel® LV PETG films with Y460 coating for high-resolution digital printing solutions for shrink sleeve packaging. This unique coating allows for high-resolution digital printing along with the durability to be converted into a seamed sleeve that can be applied either by hand or mechanically at high speeds. The coating's clear overprint varnish (OPV) applied on top of the ink surface provides the proper slip characteristics that allow for high-speed application. A newly developed propriety solvent achieves consistent welding of the polymer to itself using specified conditions. In addition, Y460 coated LV PETG film reduces haze versus other options currently available for digital printing.

The new Pentalabel® LV PETG film with the Y460 coating has received a three star rating from the Rochester Institute of Technology (RIT) and is a certified substrate for HP Indigo ws6000, ws6600, ws6800, ws4050/4500, ws2000, ws4000 and ws4600 series digital presses.
